

The Government has announced (<https://www.parliament.uk/business/publications/written-questions-answers-statements/written-statement/Commons/2020-03-23/HCWS176/>) that it will not publish any school or college level educational performance data based on tests, assessments or exams for 2020. This update published here (<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/coronavirus-covid-19-school-and-college-performance-measures>) clarifies what this means for the way school and college accountability will operate for 2019/20.

Key stage 2 headline measures

Progress score

These scores show how much progress pupils at this school made in reading, writing and maths between the end of key stage 1 and the end of key stage 2, compared to pupils across England who got similar results at the end of key stage 1.

The scores are calculated by comparing the key stage 2 test and assessment results of pupils at this school with the results of pupils in schools across England who started with similar assessment results at the end of the previous key stage - key stage 1.

In a small number of cases, pupils can have extremely negative progress scores that disproportionately affect a school's progress score. To reduce the impact of these extreme scores, we set a limit on how negative a pupil's progress score can be when calculating the school average. This will normally apply to 1 or 2 pupils if any.

Where a pupil's score is more negative than this minimum value, an adjusted score will replace the pupil's original progress score for the purpose of calculating a school's overall progress average. For further information, see the technical guidance.

In 2018/19, the new pre-key stage standards were used for the first time to report teacher assessment in reading, writing and maths for pupils working below the standard of national curriculum assessments engaged in subject-specific study. The progress methodology reflects this in the nominal points allocated for these pupils, only for the purpose of creating school level progress scores.

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/primary-school-accountability>

Confidence interval

It is difficult to say with certainty how much of the progress scores are down to the school (which may have scored higher with a different group of pupils) and how much is down to the pupils (for example some may have performed well at any school). The confidence intervals reflect this uncertainty. If the confidence intervals for 2 schools overlap, then we can't say for certain that the 2 progress scores for these schools are significantly different.

Generally speaking, the greater the number of pupils, the smaller the range of the confidence interval. For smaller schools, the confidence interval tends to be larger, since fewer pupils are included, and therefore the score will be more greatly impacted by performance of individual pupils.

A school is above average if their progress score is above 0 and the whole confidence interval is above 0. Similarly, a school is below average if their progress score is below 0 and the whole confidence interval is below 0.

Change in methodology

Attainment in reading, writing and maths (combined) is not directly comparable to earlier years (2016 and 2017) because of changes to the writing teacher assessment frameworks in 2017.

Achieving the expected standard or higher

Pupils are 'meeting the expected standard' if they achieve a 'scaled score' of 100 or more in their reading and maths tests, and their teacher assesses them as 'working at the expected standard' or better in writing. For a more detailed explanation, see Scaled scores at key stage 2, Key stage 2 teacher assessment and Primary school accountability.

Percentage of pupils achieving the higher standard

Pupils are 'achieving at a higher standard' if they achieve a 'scaled score' of 110 or more in their reading and maths tests, and their teacher assesses them as 'working at a greater depth within the expected standard' in writing. This standard was set for the first time in 2016 by the Department for Education to provide information about pupils across England achieving in the top 5%. #### Like-for-like national average

The comparator for this row is the national average for disadvantaged pupils. This is different from the default DfE national comparator, which is the national average for non-disadvantaged (and for Ever 6 FSM and CLA it is non-Ever 6 FSM and non-CLA) pupils.

National average for disadvantaged pupils

The comparator for this row is the national average for disadvantaged children. This is different from the default DfE national comparator, which is the national average for non-disadvantaged children.

Prior attainment of disadvantaged pupils - 3 year trends

Changes to eligibility criteria for Free School Meals (FSM) under Universal Credit has implications for schools' disadvantaged pupil data (for further information see the government response to eligibility for free school meals and the early years pupil premium under Universal Credit consultation). Schools' disadvantaged cohorts vary year on year and it is important to consider prior attainment when comparing performance. Where a school's disadvantaged cohort's attainment has increased or decreased significantly between years, this may partly be explained by changes in the size and make-up of the cohort. Furthermore, please treat disadvantaged pupil data with caution when comparing school performance nationally, until Universal Credit roll-out is completed.

Key stage 2 three year average

If a school has converted from one school type to another in the last three years, three year averages on ASP will include results from the predecessor school.

Percentage of pupils achieving the expected standard for reading, writing and maths, 2017-2019

Three year averages are an important way to show how schools are performing across time, smoothing out small variations in a single year, for example, due to a small cohort size. To take into account varying pupil numbers each year, the three-year average is weighted by the size of the school's cohort in each year.

Change in methodology

Attainment in reading, writing and maths (combined) is not directly comparable to earlier years (2016 and 2017) because of changes to writing teacher assessment frameworks in 2017.

Key stage 2 results over 3 years

Progress score

These scores show how much progress pupils at this school made in reading, writing and maths between the end of key stage 1 and the end of key stage 2, compared to pupils across England who got similar results at the end of key stage 1.

The scores are calculated by comparing the key stage 2 test and assessment results of pupils at this school with the results of pupils in schools across England who started with similar assessment results at the end of the previous key stage - key stage 1.

In a small number of cases, pupils can have extremely negative progress scores that disproportionately affect a school's progress score. To reduce the impact of these extreme scores, we set a limit on how negative a pupil's progress score can be when calculating the school average. This will normally apply to 1 or 2 pupils if any.

Where a pupil's score is more negative than this minimum value, an adjusted score will replace the pupil's original progress score for the purpose of calculating a school's overall progress average. For further information, see the technical guidance.

In 2018/19, the new pre-key stage standards were used for the first time to report teacher assessment in reading, writing and maths for pupils working below the standard of national curriculum assessments engaged in subject-specific study. The progress methodology reflects this in the nominal points allocated for these pupils, only for the purpose of creating school level progress scores.

Confidence interval

It is difficult to say with certainty how much of the progress scores are down to the school (which may have scored higher with a different group of pupils) and how much is down to the pupils (for example some may have performed well at any school). The confidence intervals reflect this uncertainty. If the confidence intervals for 2 schools overlap, then we can't say for certain that the 2 progress scores for these schools are significantly different.

Generally speaking, the greater the number of pupils, the smaller the range of the confidence interval. For smaller schools, the confidence interval tends to be larger, since fewer pupils are included, and therefore the score will be more greatly impacted by performance of individual pupils.

A school is above average if their progress score is above 0 and the whole confidence interval is above 0. Similarly, a school is below average if their progress score is below 0 and the whole confidence interval is below 0.

KS2 Progress scatter plot

Progress score

We calculate the scores by comparing the key stage 2 test and assessment results of pupils at this school with the results of pupils in schools across England who started with similar assessment results at the end of key stage 1.

See School performance tables: about the data for more information.

In a small number of cases, pupils can have extremely negative progress scores that disproportionately affect a school's overall progress score. To reduce the impact of these extreme scores, we set a limit on how negative a pupil's progress score can be when calculating the school average. This will normally apply to 1 or 2 pupils per school, if any.

Where a pupil's score is more negative than this minimum value, an adjusted score will replace the pupil's original progress score for the purpose of calculating a school's overall progress average. For further information, see the technical guidance.

In 2018/19, the new pre-key stage standards were used for the first time to report teacher assessment in reading, writing and maths for pupils working below the standard of national curriculum assessments engaged in subject-specific study. The progress methodology reflects this in the nominal points allocated for these pupils, only for the purpose of creating school level progress scores.

All key stage 2 pupil group reports

National average

The data used for the national comparator is all state-funded schools in England. These include academies, free schools, local authority maintained schools and special schools.

Male

The national comparator used in this row is the national average for male pupils.

Female

The national comparator used in this row is the national average for female pupils.

Disadvantaged (default)

Pupils may be defined as disadvantaged if:

- they are known to have been eligible for free school meals in the past 6 years, or
- they are recorded as having been looked after for at least one day, or

- they are recorded as having been adopted from care

The national comparator for this row is the national average for non-disadvantaged children.

Disadvantaged (like-for-like)

Pupils may be defined as disadvantaged if:

- they are known to have been eligible for free school meals in the past 6 years, or
- they are recorded as having been looked after for at least one day, or
- they are recorded as having been adopted from care

The comparator for this row is the national average for disadvantaged pupils. This is different to the default DfE national comparator.

Ever 6 FSM (default)

Pupils known to have been eligible for free school meals in any of the previous 6 academic years, as well as those first known to be eligible in January of the year this data covers.

It excludes children looked after under an agreed series of short placements and also those who were on remand/committed for trial or sentence and accommodated by the local authority.

Small CLA cohorts in most schools mean you should treat this data with caution, in particular when comparing against national benchmarks. Also, note that ASP uses a different definition for the CLA national average compared to other DfE statistical publications covering attainment of looked after children.

The national comparator used in this row is the national average for pupils in state-funded schools who have not been looked after for 1 day for the year in question. Note that 'not looked after children' in this case will include pupils who may have been looked after previously but were not looked after for at least 1 day in the year in question as well have pupils who have never been looked after.

Children looked after

This means children looked after by local authority for at least 1 day during the year and aged 4-15 as at 31 August. It excludes children looked after under an agreed series of short placements and also those who were on remand/committed for trial or sentence and accommodated by the local authority.

Small CLA cohorts in most schools mean you should treat this data with caution, in particular when comparing against national benchmarks. Also, note that ASP uses a different definition for the CLA national average compared to other DfE statistical publications covering attainment of looked after children.

The national comparator used in this row is the national average for pupils in state-funded schools who have not been looked after for 1 day for the year in question. Note that 'not looked after children' in this case will include pupils who may have been looked after previously but were not looked after for at least 1 day in the year in question as well have pupils who have never been looked after.
